The Review for Job Work

SAY Did you ever stand on a bunch of hay and try to pitch it on the wagon at the same time? Well, it's mighty disappointing. You might as well try to build a good building from inferior material. They are equally impossible to accomplish, yet some people keep trying it.

Now Get Off That Bunch of Hay and go to The CROWN LUMBER COMPANY for your BUILDING MATERIAL. You will be surprised at the good material that you can buy for the same money paid for inferior stuff elsewhere.

Crowds at the Fair

The Claresholm District Fair meeting was held today. The weatherman as if to make a part statement for the bad blunder last week furnished a day ideal in all conditions. From early sunrise the roads leading to town were thronged and the exhibits at the Fair were very satisfactory. The extra days for entering and leaving the Fair were a great success and the exhibits were more numerous and of a better quality than in previous years. It was a very great pity that even in the postponement the two days could not have been retained and a little more time devoted to the various exhibits by the visitors. It would also have avoided confusion which naturally results from crowding two days into one.

The display in the Main Hall was indeed a revelation to many who had not expected to see such an excellent showing in roots and vegetables. No less than 107 prizes were offered in the Field Roots and Garden Vegetables classes and the most excellent exhibit was the result.

The ladies were to the fore in a strong display in dairy products, domestic products and ladies work classes and some very attractive exhibits were made.

The live stock section was very good but the lack of room to proper display the exhibits militated against the interest that should be shown. If the visitors could have an opportunity at leisure to look over the horses and cattle and appraise their merits, this section of the Fair would not be the least patronized of all the Fair.

The races were of a local nature with prizes offered in the small programme of races provided for the original dates of the Fair had attracted many horsemen who have been following the circuit of Fall Fairs. A number of these were already in town when the Fair unfortunately was postponed. In consequence the interest in the race programme was not so great as it could have been. Notwithstanding some very good events were put on. At the time of our going to press the programme was but partly pulled off.

In the Farmer's race five horses started with the following results for the first heat:—Gaudin's Bull, 1st; G. Weller with Black Jack, 2nd; D. Henker's Lucy, 3rd; J. A. Johnston with Diamond, 4th; and McMillan with Fenby, 5th. Two heats of the 3-minute trot or pace had been run as we go to press.

It will be good news to those interested in military affairs to learn that a Provincial School of Cavalry is to be established in Macleod. It will start Feb. 28th next. All from this district who desire to enter their names as candidates are requested to communicate with Capt. C. W. James.

This will be a great opportunity for young men who desire cavalry instruction without having to go out of the district.

The school will furnish the horses and it is expected that some 50 or 60 men will take the course. The school will probably be held on the Exhibition Grounds.

Some Prophecies

Mr. Odie Nelson was in Calgary last week. He gave the reporters a fine glowing account of the crop conditions in this vicinity. We know he could not speak too optimistically of the prospects of a bumper crop and also think he was not a false prophet when he placed the support of Recipe No. 25 to the former's chapter.

There must be a very great preponderance in sentiment in favor of the agreement among his constituents to compel Mr. Herron to desert his leader on this question. Mr. Borden may have to come back again to set John right once more. However there is still enough time between now and election for many changes of heart and front. R. L. may have inside information on this matter.

Some Hall

A rather serious storm of hail visited the district a few miles west of Claresholm Tuesday afternoon. The storm travelled in a southerly direction until it reached Gramma, ten miles south of here and from there it bore to the west. The damage reported to crops have come in from New Doley southward in a strip varying from one mile to five miles in width. The damage varies considerably; in some cases a total loss being reported. No damage was suffered in Claresholm but the town of Gramma had the poorest crop ever seen in the city. The City of Lethbridge was hard hit. In the path of the storm many windows were smashed and it is told that the farm of Robt. Coulter on the hill fell with such force as to break the skins of the cattle until they bled as from severe cuts. A traveller told of the ear witness of a train being broken by the repeated fall of hail at 10 a.m. Among the sufferers in this district are the Elsons, J. A. McKay, Heyland Bros., Robt. Stoney, Robt. Coulter, the Holland Farm, J. and A. Sheverson, Thor. Ellson, Albert Tevell and others. The storm was a very severe one and coming at a time when it was thought the danger from hail was over, losses were to be neither discounted.

Once more, a painful lesson emphasizes the folly of placing "all one's eggs in one basket". The slogan "Mixed Farming for Our's" we would think will have found some more voices in our vicinity.

Rough at Okotoks

The Calgary Herald on Saturday says:

"The district in the neighborhood of Black Diamond, at the forks of Sheep Creek, was visited yesterday afternoon at 3:30 by a severe cyclone. The storm was about a quarter of a mile in extent and carried everything before it, trees, buildings, etc. The stores at Black Diamond, especially Steve's, which is a grocery, was picked out of the ground and not a board of it has been seen. One woman, name unknown, was badly injured, just getting out of the house as it was carried away. The engineer's house of Sheep Creek coal mine was totally destroyed."

The cyclone was viewed by the residents of Okotoks as it swept across the country at a distance of twelve miles from the town. Following the cyclone Okotoks and the immediate vicinity was visited by a severe hail-storm. Not a business building or house escaped being shattered beyond the mere outside, but the damage covered was small, only a few farmers on the outskirts of the town losing their crops. Among those suffering loss are: J. Duncan, W. Blain, J. Adams, Joe McConnell and Geo. Inger.

Meadow Creek District

Mr. John Maxwell returned from North Dakota where he had been visiting for about two months. His days crops are poor there this year. Binders are seen in the different fields now days.

Mrs. Lydia Webber returned last Saturday from North Dakota where she has been visiting her sister for some time.

Services were well attended both at Meadow Creek and at Green Bank last Sunday August 13.

Everyone is anxious to see good hot weather for a long time, so the grub will get ripe.

Claresholm East

William Whitfield of Hamilton, Ontario, was a recent guest at Robert Laing's.

M. Frederickson is improving the looks of his place by a fine addition to his house.

Wm. Knight visited his family in Claresholm over Sunday.

R. S. Law and wife and S. L. Fraser were looking after their farm interests here Saturday. They were accompanied by Mr. Andrew Marion of Lake Miss.

Mrs. Robt. Laing and daughter Phomie were Claresholm visitors last Friday.

Chair Rompaui was doing trimming work on the Fraser & Law farm house, Monday.

Dugal McArthur of Brunette was visiting at Andrew Hartwick's a few days the past week.

Chas. Ahern left yesterday morning for a trip to the Stafford mine for coal.

Andrew Hartwick has returned from Brunette where he built a house on his homestead.

Malvin Ingalls and Sidney Todd were Claresholm visitors Saturday evening.

At the Sunday School at Five Mile school house Sunday, Miss Gladwin resigned as secretary as she leaves soon for Normal. Miss Gladwin will be greatly missed as she has been a faithful and efficient member. Myrtle Fraser was elected secretary.

At the Pincher Creek Echo on Friday published the following:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a member for the Macleod constituency, arrived in Pincher Creek on Monday morning, and speculation has been rife as to what his course of action in the present campaign will be."

"The Echo says Mr. Horren on Tuesday and did not have any difficulty in getting a seat. Mr. Horren is a frank admission of what his policy will be so far as the reciprocity agreement is concerned."

"It is stated that you have not made up your mind yet as to whether you will oppose or support reciprocity; have you anything to say about that?" asked the reporter.

The principle has been recognized by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that the three provinces of the West are entitled to their natural resources, the same as the other provinces of the Dominion with the single exception of the land fairly fit for homesteading without expenditure of money, which land must be retained by the Dominion for free homesteading in compliance with its immigration policy and promises."

"My prospects of getting the Conservative nomination" was the next question.

"My prospects of getting the nomination is a matter which I naturally do not care to discuss. It will be time enough to talk about that phase of the question at Macleod on August 16th," was the reply.

"But I have no objection in saying that if I contest this election it will be as a Con reciprocally supported the proposed reciprocity agreement."

"Why did you not take this definite and emphatic stand earlier?" enquired the reporter. "Do you not think that you have discounted your chance of re-election, in case you get the nomination, by not declaring your position as soon as reciprocity became a public question?"

Belated Justice

On Aug. 10.—The three prairie provinces will be given control of natural resources by Federal Government, mineral and forest lands, all except homestead land. Manitoba and Saskatchewan will be extended to the Hudson Bay and to the Peace River.

The settlement will give the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan all mines, minerals, natural land and royalties, all timber and timber lands, all land, grazing land, grazing land, all land requiring irrigation and all water and water power covered by the irrigation act.

The only question of principle left unsettled is how much —if any—of the revenue now allowed the provinces in lieu of lands should be cut off.

It will be discussed at a conference to be held in Ottawa on Sept. 1st between the members of the Dominion cabinet and the provincial premiers as soon as possible after the ministers return from their constituencies and doubtless will be settled on a fair basis.

NOTICE

A meeting for Liberal-Conservative organization purposes is called for next Wednesday Aug. 23rd, at the Parish Hall at 8 p.m. It is requested that the members in sympathy with the principles of the Conservative party in Claresholm will attend the meeting in saying that if I contest

Far and Wide

In the interior of Russia the superstitions are drowning old women accused of causing the drought. Should we not drown a few old men for causing the excessive rain fall this country has experienced of late?

The returning officer appointed by the Government to handle the election in the Macleod constituency is A. H. Knight, of Lundbreck.

On Aug. 10.—John C. K. G. Billings of New York was the world's trouting record to wagon at Cleveland by stopping the mile in 2 minutes flat. A father in the stretch prevented him from beating the Lou Dillon mark made at Memphis, Tenn., on Oct. 28, 1903. The quarter was timed at 29½, the half at 59½ and the three-quarters at 130.

Up Against It

In Dauphin constituency Glen Campbell the present Conservative member is unopposed and proposed to nominate female candidates. The convention decided by resolution not to put an independent candidate in the field for fear it would disastrously split the vote on reciprocity. They equalled a name for the Liberal convention and agreed if their nominee was accepted by the Liberal convention they would accept the name of their candidate and further they made it clear that if their nominee was not selected they would support any Liberal candidate who would pledge himself to the farmers bill of rights presented to the Government at Ottawa on Dec. 16, last. This lines the farmers of that constituency determined to support the Liberal candidate.

On the other hand Glen Campbell was re-nominated by the Conservative convention and announced his untenable opposition to the pact. "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by dealers everywhere.

To those who say that the Canadian Government Annuities Scheme is of benefit to those only who can take advantage of it while they are young, it may be pointed out that the benefit is equally as great for old people.

The following example will illustrate this. A widow 75 years of age has $2500 invested in a portion of her capital each year which was deposited in the First Order Savings Bank as well as the interest, found to her horror that she had but $1500 left. She was without relatives, and she suddenly realized what her fate would ultimately be if life were spared to her for a few years longer. But when she applied for a pension, her savings appeared. A friend told her of the Canadian Government Annuities Scheme, and her feelings may be imagined when she was informed that her $1500 would yield her for the remainder of her life no matter how long she might live an income of $225.90 yearly.

Those who are in complete concurrence with this great scheme may be had on application to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa. Postage free.

DON'T MISS THIS

The prophecy mills of both of our political parties have been grinding out the usual optimistic calculations as to the results of the elections of Sept. 21st. While these make very pleasant reading to the enthusiastic supporters of either parties in the contest, they can not both be fulfilled, one or other side must lose. Fortunately we have a clear and distinct line of cleavage in this campaign. The Liberals are standing flat-footed in support of reciprocal trade agreement with U. S. The opposition, save in the cases of a few John Horrens, are out and out opponents of reciprocity. Now the electors must also line up for or against the reciprocity pact. Every vote cast is either in favor of the proposed agreement or opposed to it. But more than that every vote registered is against the measure in sentiment at least no matter what the man who does not value his franchise enough to go to the polls may think about the matter. Hence we urge upon every possessor of a vote to exercise his franchise and not to endanger the success of the party he favors by remaining at home at this crisis. Measures of local interest and value have been defeated by the indifference of those who conceded the value of the same. Candidates have been wounded in the house of their friends by the indifference or the over-optimism of these same friends. The carrying out of policies of national importance has been in the past made impossible by the laxness of the supporters of these policies. No matter how confident you feel about the result do your part as if your vote was to be the deciding vote. Look upon yourself as the sole arbiter and cast your ballot for the candidate you favor. Get out early to the poll. No matter how busy you may be, take an hour to perform the manhood rite. Do not let over-confidence lose you a victory for your principles. We can not urge too strongly on this point, and strange to say, the farmer, who of all men should be the most interested, has been the one most frequently to blame. The cities have dictated policies to the rural districts, not because of greater voting strength but because of greater enthusiasm of the individual voters in the larger centers. The worst element has often dictated to the better element for the same reason. It is a duty imposed by conscience to take a stand on every public question, economic as well as moral. Whatever side you may take in this contest don't neglect to vote and your ancestors probably gave their lives to obtain for you. Aren't we right?

A Floral Fete

The fourth annual Flower Show is to be held this evening at the hall of the Legion. The impression it made on the large crowd that assembled in the I.O. O. F. Hall Tuesday evening has not gone but has taken its place among the most pleasing memories. The attendance may have been somewhat affected by the afternoon storm but was of a size to highly compliment the fete. The visitors entered into the spirit of the occasion and allowed the fair sales ladies to reach down into many a zealously guarded roll of names. Home made dishes were a feature of the show. Financially the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church are well pleased and no one speaks of the evening but in terms of the highest praise. Messrs. Bryans of Nanton and Brand of Stavely made the awards. The largest part of the 64 classes were represented by our own members. A prize was awarded in about 50 of the classes on the programme, their being about 80 prizes allotted in all. The judges were confronted by a difficult task right at the outset. The store window of J. M. Soby, that of the Drs. Clark Co., decorated by Mr. Clegg and the window at Medical Hall were entered. The ladies had to decide which to cancel and which to keep. The task of the judges to discriminate was such a difficult one that prizes were recommended for all three. The prizes were allotted in the above order.

The afternoon rain caused the decorated motor car and horse and buggy parade to be cancelled. A raincoat understanding received the judges from the necessity of choosing the finest baby by only one entry appeared.

The gentlemen who judged the entries were Messrs. Simmons and Eines. Mrs. J. Miller presided at the booth where the home-made cooking temptations of the palace, while the Misses Bryans, Moffatt and Sibley had many refreshments laid out there and all were well patronized.

In the collection of not less than ten pots Mrs. Lockwood was the winner of the Art Pottery Jardiniere donated by Mr. Geo. Farmer. In this class an extra prize was made necessary owing to the splendid collection. Mrs. A. Boniface won first and second prizes for best garden lawn, trees and flowers.

Mrs. Eric Moffatt and Mrs. J. F. Miller secured first and second respectively for best floral decoration for dinner table. Mayor Milnes' lawn was awarded first prize and Mr. N. Howes' lawn second. Mr. Boniface took first prize for his garden and Dr. Steeves and Mr. Hollister won first and second in this order for best garden lawn, trees and flowers.

In the Cut Flower section the successful entrants were best dozen bloom Aster no entry; Sweet Peas Mrs. Frank Murray; Pansies Mrs. Milnes; Peacock Mrs. Lockwood; Sunflowers Mrs. A. Sibley; Sweet Peas Mr. Boniface; Phlox Mr. Hollister; Stocks Mrs. Boniface. Most artistic arrangement of Pansies Mrs. Frank Murray, who also was the winner with Sweet Peas; Nicotianas.

The Big Brother System

The Big Brother system of dealing with the little boy who is headed for trouble is gradually becoming known the world over. If a boy is found to be in the position where he is on the downward path under the Big Brother System he would immediately be handed over to some other member of the organization himself and with an experience a little wider than his own. The Boy Scout movement is one of the greatest factors which could possibly be considered along the line of the Big Brother movement. For instances in every corps of Boy Scouts there is a group of young men known as older boys. The Scout crew calls for every thing which is needed in providing for the younger boy who is beginning to go wrong. Boy Scouts the world over make the best Big Brothers, and if they see a younger boy getting himself into trouble, and headed to the place where he is going wrong they will immediately do something to help him. The older brother sees that his younger brother is set upon the right track. This is such an easy thing to do when every boy of fourteen remembers that he has a younger boy who is watching him and following his actions with a good deal of interest. The Scout movement is the greatest development which has ever been discovered in the prevention of crime among younger boys, as it makes use of the spirit of leadership which every boy has, and results in the development of a spirit of responsibility of the older boy towards his younger brother.

Boys Scouts or others who are interested in the idea of the Big Brother plan are invited to get in touch with the Department of Neglected Children at Edmonton.

With her hand on Jack's shoulder Echo said: "Polly, I've been waiting for you too many strings to your bow."

"You mean I've too many strings to my strings?" laughingly answered the girl.

"You'll have Slim Hoover and Jim Lane shooting each other up all on account of you," added Polly.

"'Northin' of the North,'" quoted Polly. "Can't a girl have friends? But I know what you are waiting for."

"What?" asked Jack.

"You want me to vamoose. I'm hep, I'll van," said Polly. "I'll run into the room and tell the girls the groom had arrived, but couldn't be seen until the bride was through with an important interview with him. So she blindfolded them all into the living room."

"This room was a long and low apartment, roughly paneled. The windows were few, were uncovered, giving an old English effect, although this was not striven for, but made after strict economy.

The doors which were treated with vines, through which filtered the sunshine. A cooling evening wind blew from the open window. The chairs were broad and comfortable, the workmanship of the monks of the neighboring mission. In the corner, a small alcove, a bed of Mexican mudding. On the adobe walls were hung trophies of the hunt, war bonnets, and cradle boards, remnants of the Apaches. Navajo blankets covered the window seats and were used as screens for sets of curtains which hung into the spaces between the windows.

Polly carried in a tray a large bunch of grapes, a bunch of red grapes and green. This was received with riotous demonstrations. She placed it in the center of a table made of a single table top, a single pedestal supported by the other girls, serving the meal really from the bowl.

The girls showed the effects of culture and refinement. Their gestures were full and free. The tones of their voices were high and clear, but the speech was slow, the pauses exacting, so as if feeling the necessity, even when confused, of making every word carry.

But, as a last resort, they sat upright in their seats, having the feel of the switch under him.

Toward women in all social gathering places there is an exaggerated chivalry; as, for example, when some one has a gun.

Sergeants showed the effects of culture and refinement. Their gestures were full and free. The tones of their voices were high and clear, but the speech was slow, the pauses exacting, so as if feeling the necessity, even when confused, of making every word carry.

"I'm game," responded Jack grimly. "I know what's coming, but I won't squirm."

"You'll git all that's a-comin'" to you," grinned Allen.

Shim had his hands clasped behind his head, blocking Jack's way.

As the bridegroom started to leave the room he took his hand and with a aspersion of the wedding ring.

"Oh, dry up," laughed Jack, pushing.

The sheriff made. Hating, he requested.

"I don't want to go on weddin' any more," said Jack, looking at Shim.

"The here's a sure enough event an' I'll be there to see it," barked Shim.

"I'll come along," said Shim, as he took the gun.

"It needs cleanin'," snarled the sheriff.

"I'm a-gittin' a weddin' ring," replied Shim.

"I'm a-gittin' a weddin' ring," replied Shim.

"I'm a-gittin' a weddin' ring," repeated Shim.

"I'm a-gittin' a weddin' ring," said Shim.
